  How we aim to reduce health inequalities 18
The Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) is committed to ensuring a high quality health service for our local population, but new treatments, growing levels of long-term conditions and increasing expectations mean that we have to prioritise how our precious NHS resources are deployed and ensure we allocate the resources available to us, so that maximum health benefits can be achieved overall.

As commissioners we plan and buy health care services for our local population and have a legal duty to do that within our allocated budget which will be increasingly challenging over the next few years. Meeting these challenges whilst maintaining and improving quality is essential for the sustainability of our NHS. Please see our Financial Strategy.

It has been said that “quality without efficiency is unsustainable, but efficiency without quality would be unthinkable”.

To ensure safe and effective care is commissioned and delivered we work as partners within the Integrated Care System (ICS) to improve health and change lives. As a single Strategic Commissioner this will enable us to build on the achievements previously implemented through the Memorandum of Understanding on shared quality governance with the combined 6 CCGs. We have a strong history of collaboration and delivery of improvements across Nottingham and Nottinghamshire through joint working. We will ensure this is built upon and not lost in our transition into a new way of working and organisation. Our role continues to be to commission for, monitor and share learning. Safety and safeguarding are paramount and central to delivering our accountability for quality services. As a member of the ICS, working closely with partners will enable us to improve patient experience, safety and effectiveness in areas that have previously been more challenging, for example:

- Working towards patients experiencing a more seamless service with less patient transfer between wards and services where there is no clinical benefit
- Reducing patient safety risks at the point of unnecessary handovers
- Improving clear and consistent information and messages for patients
- Ensuring that a system wide approach is enacted when areas are under pressure to reduce the likelihood of poor patient experience and an adverse effect on patient outcomes
- Further improvements in system wide Equality and Quality Impact assessments (EQIAs) and actions
- Faster sharing of learning from feedback, incidents and investigations

Working across the ICS will enable improvements in the consistency of advice and information relating to quality of services for public and patients along with a consistent level of service quality commissioned across the Nottingham and Nottinghamshire footprint. Using the ICS Outcomes Framework will be integral to CCG decision making, service assessments and clarity of information sharing with patients. We will maximise the opportunity to do things once through working with the Integrated Care Partnerships (ICPs) and Primary Care networks (PCNs), share learning and intelligence to enable quicker implementation of improvements.

Our mission is to improve the health and wellbeing of our residents through commissioning for and monitoring the achievement of outcomes of care as part of the ICS.
There are three overarching domains to quality:

- Patient safety (the safety of treatment and care provided to patients)
- Patient experience (the experience patients have of the treatment and the care they receive)
- Clinical effectiveness (measured by both clinical outcomes and patient-related outcomes)

Quality is only achieved when all three domains are met. To ensure patients have a good experience in our commissioned services the values and behaviours of those working in our organisation need to remain focused on safe and effective care. We will embrace and nurture a culture of open and honest cooperation in order to ensure that CCG and ICS quality outcomes are met. To achieve this we will develop our staff through our Organisational Development Strategy in order to achieve the three domains. We will also ensure user/public engagement is integral to service changes and the further development of outcome measures (please see the Communication and Engagement Strategy).

This strategy sets out how we will ensure quality is at the heart of commissioning.
We are committed to ensuring that a high quality, person centred approach is at the heart of everything that we do.

We will always champion quality as a central principle, demonstrating that it should and can be maintained and improved alongside financial sustainability.

We will provide clarity and consistency by using a shared view of quality and aligning our expectations.

We will listen, involve and act on the views of the public and people who use services, understanding and measuring their views of the quality of services, being transparent about how their views have shaped services.

We will work to eliminate discrimination, advance equality and share the belief that equality and diversity is about the recognition of difference in its widest sense.

We will tackle health inequalities for all patients, communities and the NHS workforce.
Fig 1 – A single shared view of quality (National Quality Board 2016)

We know that quality as pictured here must be the organising principle of our health and care service. It is what matters most to people who use services and what motivates and unites everyone working in health and care. We will build upon our current position to continually improve our approach to quality for people who use our services.

Quality Assurance and Improvement

We collate and analyse information from a range of sources to ensure that safe, effective and caring health services are commissioned and delivered for our local population. Triangulation of data provides a robust picture of service quality and enables us to share relevant findings with providers and other commissioners as well as taking action when appropriate. The CCG works with ICS partners to promote a culture of openness and transparency where mistakes are learnt from and inform service improvements.

The quality of a service is monitored through provider quality review meetings, incident reporting mechanisms and quality insight visits in conjunction with the relevant ICP/PCN. For care homes we work collaboratively with local authorities to assess and share intelligence on the quality of services within nursing homes. Collaborative working supports improved intelligence, sharing of lessons and removes duplication. Where there are significant or wide ranging concerns about providers the CCG instigates an internal quality/risk review to identify further action to be taken including escalation to the Care Quality Commission, other regulators and commissioners.
Transforming Services Using Patient Feedback

Involving patients, the public and carers is vital to achieving our aim of ensuring that everyone living in Nottingham and Nottinghamshire has the best possible health and wellbeing they can. Understanding what really matters to local people in their health and health services and involving them as active partners in decisions that may affect them is key to designing and assessing quality services. We ensure the patient voice is integral to our reviews and clinical pathway designs through patient stories, a wide range of engagement activities, complaints, Patient Advice and Liaison (PALS), Patient and Public Engagement Committees (please see Communications and Engagement Strategy page 16).

Personalisation

Personalising care is key to delivering future improvements in the quality of services in Nottingham and Nottinghamshire. We are an exemplar site for personalisation and our vision is to:

- Maximise independence, good health, and wellbeing throughout people’s lives, shifting the focus from ‘what is the matter with you’ to ‘what matters to

To achieve this vision we will support a culture where a different, person-centred conversation is the norm and people are recognised as equal partners. As commissioners we will embed this requirement within all service specifications as part of contracting and commissioning.
The Clinical Commissioning Group is committed to listening and responding to any issues that our service users want to raise in order to identify areas where we are doing well and any areas that may need improving.

The Patient Experience Team offer confidential advice and support on health-related matters for patients, their families and carers and are key enablers in improving patient experience. Patient narratives are gathered and presented to CCG committees and Boards to ensure that the CCG remains focused on the experiences of patients.
All NHS and commissioned services have a key role to play in safeguarding and promoting the wellbeing of adults and children at risk of abuse or neglect. Safeguarding is a collective responsibility and a statutory duty. The CCG is a statutory partner of Nottingham and Nottinghamshire Safeguarding Adult Boards and a Safeguarding Children Partner in the new safeguarding arrangements. We are bound by their respective safeguarding policies and procedures.

The Accountable Officer is the Vice Chair of the Nottinghamshire Safeguarding Adults Board (NSAB) and the Safeguarding Adults Review Group.

An adult at risk is defined as:

An adult over the age of 18 who; has needs for care and support (whether or not the Local Authority is meeting any of those needs), is experiencing, or at risk of abuse and/or neglect and as a result of those needs is unable to protect him or herself against the abuse or neglect or the risk of it.

A child is defined as any person under the age of 18 years.

Abuse can be a single or repeated act or lack of appropriate action, which causes harm or distress. It happens in many forms:

- Physical abuse
- Emotional/psychological abuse
- Sexual abuse/exploitation
- Neglect and acts of omission
- Discriminatory abuse
- Domestic abuse
- Financial or material abuse
- Forced marriage
- Honor-based violence
- Hate crime
- Human trafficking /modern slavery
- Organisational abuse
- Inappropriate restraint

The CCG is committed to all policies, procedures and practices which safeguard and promote the wellbeing of adults at risk of abuse and/or neglect. The CCG works in partnership with the Nottingham and Nottinghamshire Safeguarding Boards/Partnerships to ensure that safeguarding runs as a golden thread throughout commissioned services and supports learning and service development as a result of Safeguarding Adults Reviews, Serious Case Reviews (children) and Domestic Homicide Reviews. The CCG has identified leads for adults and childrenSafeguarding. The CCG has performance and assurance controls in place for healthcare providers and commissioner to ensure that best practice standards are maintained and improved and publish an annual report.
The Equality Act 2010

The Equality Act 2010 legally protects people from discrimination in the workplace and in wider society. The Equality Act 2010 aims to create “a society built on fairness and respect where people are confident in all aspects of their diversity.”

The Equality Act brings together over 116 separate pieces of legislation into one single Act; the main provisions of this Act came into effect on 1 October 2010. The Equality Act states that it is against the law to discriminate against anyone because of:

- age
- being or becoming a transsexual person
- being married or in a civil partnership
- being pregnant or on maternity leave
- disability
- race including colour, nationality, ethnic or national origin
- religion, belief or lack of religion/belief
- sex
- sexual orientation

These are referred to as ‘protected characteristics’. The Act also protects people from being discriminated against because of their caring responsibilities.

What are the Public Sector Equality Duties

The public sector equality duty in section 149 of the Equality Act 2010 places a duty on public authorities such as the CCG to:

- Eliminate discrimination and any other conduct that is prohibited by or under the act. This includes harassment, victimisation, and discrimination against whistleblowers.
- Advance equal opportunities by:
  - (a) Removing or minimising disadvantages suffered by persons who share a relevant protected characteristic that are connected to that characteristic;
  - (b) Take steps to meet the needs of persons who share a relevant protected characteristic that are different from the needs of persons who do not share it;
  - (c) Encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any other activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low.

As a CCG we are required to:

- Prepare and publish equality objectives at least every four years. All such objectives must be specific and measurable.
- Publish information to demonstrate its compliance with the public sector Equality Duty at least annually.
- Publish information ‘in a manner that the information is accessible to the public.’
Equality and Quality Impact Assessments (EQIA)

An Equality and Quality Impact Assessment (EQIA) is a way to assess the impact of new or existing policies and services on particular groups of people, to find out if there is a positive or negative outcome and make reasonable changes where possible. It is an opportunity to identify possible disadvantages, decide if they are discriminatory and the extent to which discrimination can be eliminated, minimised or justified. We will work within the ICS to ensure that all impacts are assessed.

Accessible Information Standards

From 1st August 2016 onwards, all organisations that provide NHS care or adult social care are legally required to follow the Accessible Information Standard. The Standard aims to make sure that people who have a disability, impairment or sensory loss are provided with information that they can easily read and understand and with support so they can communicate effectively with health and social care services.

One of the fundamental principles of the Accessible Information Standard is that patients, service users, carers and parents should be asked to self-define their information and / or communication support needs, and it is these needs (and not their disability) which should be recorded. The CCG is mindful that people without any disability, impairment or sensory loss, but who do not speak or read English – because they use a different language – may need reasonable adjustments but are not included in the scope of the Standard.

Steps MUST be taken to ensure that communication support and information in alternative formats can be provided promptly and without unreasonable delay. This includes making use of remote, virtual, digital and telecommunications solutions.

CCG Equality and Diversity Statement

The CCG is committed to promoting and embedding a culture of Equality and Diversity within all areas of the work we do; for our staff, service users and the local population. The culture within the CCG is underpinned by the core values of the NHS Constitution including respect and dignity, compassion and inclusion.

Our commitments:

1. Equality and Diversity Statement - The Nottingham and Nottinghamshire CCG will pay due regard to the requirements of the Public Sector Equality Duty (PSED) of the Equality Act 2010 in policy development and implementation, both as commissioner’s of services and as employers.

2. As a commissioning organisation, we are committed to ensuring our activities do not unlawfully discriminate on the grounds of any of the protected characteristics defined by the Equality Act, which are age, disability, gender re-assignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex and sexual orientation.

3. We are committed to ensuring that our commissioning activities also consider the disadvantages that some people in our diverse population experience when accessing health services. Such disadvantaged groups include people experiencing economic and social deprivation, carers, refugees and asylum seekers, people who are homeless, workers in stigmatised occupations, people who are geographically isolated, gypsies, roma and travellers.
For Staff

- Ensure staff fully understand the principles of equality, diversity and inclusion
- Empower our staff to challenge prejudice and make reasonable adjustments in their own work areas
- Provide opportunities for staff to share their experiences and opinions and enable staff to raise concerns when discrimination occurs
- Ensure that the environment in which our staff work which is free from unlawful discrimination
- Provide leadership which promotes a culture of equality, diversity and inclusion which runs as a golden thread through mainstream business
- Protect people from discrimination and ensure all our undertakings consider the impact on the protected characteristics as detailed in the Equality Act 2010 (details on p7)
- As employers we are committed to promoting equality of opportunity in recruitment, training and career progression and to valuing and increasing diversity within our workforce.
Health Inequalities

Health inequalities are not only apparent between people of different socio-economic groups — they exist between different genders, different ethnic groups, and the elderly and people suffering from mental health problems or learning disabilities also have worse health than the rest of the population.

The causes of health inequalities are complex, and include lifestyle factors — smoking, nutrition, exercise to name only a few — and also wider determinants such as poverty, housing and education. Health inequalities are currently estimated to cost the NHS a total of at least £20 billion each year so it we are committed to constantly challenge where health inequalities can be reduced and greater equality established. We will work with partners with the ICS to address health inequalities.

CCG Health Inequalities Statement

We will work with ICS partners to;

- Reduce inequalities between patients with respect to their ability to access health services.
- Reduce inequalities between patients with respect to the outcomes achieved for them by the provision of health services.¹

How we aim to reduce health inequalities

- We will ensure that we know our population and local needs, using RightCare, joint strategic needs assessments (JSNAs) and additional supporting data and evidence, such as local health profiles and qualitative sources.

- We will carry out evidence-based service reviews to ensure:
  - Services are universal and reach all members of society
  - Services are commissioned on the basis of need, ensuring the quantity and quality of services in deprived areas is adequate.

- We will work closely with the health and wellbeing boards (HWBs) and public health teams to develop and implement a shared health and wellbeing strategy.

- We will use expertise in the public health teams to ensure that we raise awareness and use commissioning mechanisms to positively influence the wider determinants of health, identifying where the integration of services would improve quality and reduce inequalities²

- We will use the Learning Disabilities Mortality Review (LeDeR) Programme to ensure that we learn from deaths that may have been prevented. We know that mortality reviews on their own are not sufficient to reduce health inequalities. But we will monitor the impact of mortality reviews, and how recommendations lead to improvements in service provision and, over time, reduce premature mortality.
